

Detail Itinerary

Api Base Camp Trek is the most virgin trek in Nepal. It is a name of a mountain in far western Nepal. If you are looking for nontourist region trek in Nepal then the API Himal trek would be the best one ever you had before. So, there will be just you are as a tourist during your trip or a few numbers other, maybe. First needs fly to Dhangadhi from Kathmandu (One hour 15 minutes) and explore rest day around if you wish to drive by local bus. This trek needs 4 days driving and as before start trek, one long day drive (8 hrs) & next day 2 hrs driving then start the trek. It is same after the trek second time 2 days driving, same way back. The region is protected by Api Nampa Conservation.

Api Himal Trek offers beautiful scenery of nature, wildness with a huge valley of grassland. The hugest mountains are Api (7132m), Nampa (6929m) and Bobaye (6808m) and also many more unnamed snowcapped mountains surrounding the valley. There are some lakes too and it is related to religion as well. Api trek route is the most remote region of Nepal and it is far behind regarding developing than other parts of Nepal.

Trip Facts

Detail Itinerary

Cost Includes

- ü Airport transfers by private car/van
- ü Kathmandu accommodation inclusive breakfast
- ü Airfare to/from Dhangadi with a guide
- ü Cook/Staffs transportation with needed camping utensils
- ü Local transportation from Dhangadi (private available on request, possible)
- ü Full board meals during the trip (after leaving Kathmandu)
- ü Needed porters
- ü Staffs salary/food/accommodation/insurance
- ü Needed trekking permits
- ü All service charges and government tax

Cost Excludes

- International air tickets
- Nepalese visa fee
- Lunch and dinner in Kathmandu
- Excess luggage cost
- Personal porter for the day backpack
- Horse riding
- Any alcoholic drinks
- Personal expenses like telephone, laundry
- The cost which is not mentioned above includes item